

In search of the Huntley

Jack McCourt – Mar 2018

In Chuck-town at a dockside dive
There met with Chet a man named Clive
Who asked in a manner, some say bluntly,
“Do you know why I search for the sub called Huntley?
I need a good subject so my books can thrive”

Says Chet, a master in the world of news
Thought reflectively on the words he'd choose
“Well before you have your press conference
May I suggest to you with all deference
Before you look like a novice, with the name you use”

“That Confederate sub, well it had no T.
And it's chronicled in Naval History
So, perchance you've read that book by Potter
In History of Sea Power, bury your head, you oughta
You'll read about “crossing” but not adding the “T”.”