

misplaced the note. I didn't forget 'ya buddy so please keep in touch. The Cheeseman writes:

How the h--- are you?! I am now the Program Manager for Apple Enterprise Software based out of Washington. Marian and I still have the Karate School in Pasadena, MD and we both put in time there at night. Marian got her Black Belt in December (so you can guess that you learn to watch your mouth at home!) Our son, Josh (8), will get his Black Belt in Tae Kwon Do this summer so this will be an interesting household. For those of you that remember my parents, from either parking your cars or going to parties, they are doing well. My father will be 79 in September and my mother just turned 76 (but she will say that she is at 39 and holding). I find that a little hard to handle since I will be 45 in October.

Also in the catch-up category I must mention that I heard that Doug Briganti has just reached the ten year mark as a Special Agent for the FBI. He completed 27 months of intensive training in Japanese at the Defense Language Institute in Monterey, CA a year ago and is now assigned to the Honolulu Office of the FBI. Also, he and his wife, Joni, (sister of Classmate Rob Prodoehl) are celebrating the birth of their fifth child and third son, Tazman.

I got a long overdue update from Ken Shearer (although one note every 21 years is better than some Classmates seem to manage.) Ken writes:

Finally taking the time to send in an update. My wife Joan and I were at the 20th in October and thoroughly enjoyed seeing folks. We have been settled in Evergreen, CO for the last 12 years, and are loving it. After a five year stint on HOEL and KITTY HAWK, courtesy of the CRIP program, I left the Navy, and have had subsequent "tours" with IBM, Martin Marietta, a small trade show exhibit firm called Design Dynamics/Exhibits, and now serving as the Senior VP of Marketing and Sales at Production Resource Group. Based in New Windsor, NY, we produce events worldwide, from Broadway shows to corporate meetings to trade shows to theme park attractions. My wife, Joan, and I have two wonderful children that we adopted in 1988 and 1991. Katie is nine and Kip is six. They provide all of the joys and worries of parenthood. We enjoy travel and scuba diving, golf and long hikes in the Colorado mountains. I can be reached at home at: 303-674-7762, at work: 303-375-9975 and on the net at: kshearer@prg.com. We'd love to hear from anyone heading our way to ski. Colorado is a wonderful place to live and vacation.

Congratulations are in order for LtCol Victor M. Gardner III, USMC who was recently elected an At-Large Trustee of the Alumni Association. I know that Corky will represent the Class in an admirable fashion on the board.

Speaking of enlarging leadership roles, Bill Millward sent the following email recently:

Shipmates, for those who have gone before me and for those who will make a similar decision in the future, I recently made the transition to the ranks of the corporate world. My decision criteria included a range of factors from personal to professional. Ultimately, after these factors were racked and stacked, I concluded that after 21 years of service it was time for me to trade in the collar devices for multi-colored ties. The purpose of my commentary is not to talk about my transition, but to build support for something I observed during my transition.

The first thing that I came to understand during this time period was the incredible power of our Class network. You might be wondering why a guy who wrote the Class column for 13 years would make such an obvious statement. After all, the column is filled with networking information! Upon reflection, though, I took for granted the numerous relationships that were routed in the many Severn-based and onward experiences. My transition helped me internalize the value of those relationships, as it was our network of Classmates who served as the catchment basin for my anxiety and uncertainty during the transition, and ultimately helped me get a job! My second observation is that our Class is coming of age. Specifically, we are entering a period where our expertise is contributing significantly to event outcome. This may be another inane blinding flash of the obvious, but if you look around at where our Class is positioned both in and out of the military, you will see a clear pattern emerging! I had a wonderful opportunity to discuss this very issue with Jim Kelly (Jim is the Director for Intelligence and Information Technology at Syntek, a high-end strategic leadership firm in DC) the other day, and our conclusions are remarkably similar. Naval Academy class prominence appears to peak about every ten years. The class period of '67-'69 is the last peak to flow through the pipeline. Arguably, our conclusion may be flawed by generalization, but nonetheless a characterization can be made based on historical patterns!

This brings me to the point of this note. As a Class we can fulfill our leadership destiny by acting now. By combining our extensive network with our emerging positions of influence, we generate a powerful knowledge base from which to get started. It is time for us to step up to the plate and draw together in the manner that is both intuitive and functional. Starting in September, we will resume our Class luncheons in the Washington DC area; a site chosen because of its high concentration of '77 shipmates. Our purpose is NOT to be bunch of "ring knockin' beltway bandits," but to transcend to the national and even global levels of prominence. Our internal network of support will build a better tomorrow, both in the public and private sectors alike.

Those of you who reside in the Greater Metro DC area will receive notification of the time and location of our meeting as of this writing tentatively scheduled for 24 September between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. at the Arlington Army/Navy Club. If you did not receive a note by the time this issue arrives, or if you will be in town during this time and would like to attend, please contact either me 202-822-5408 or Jim Kelly 703-525-3403. We will achieve!

Glad to see that Bill isn't letting any moss grow under his newly civilian clad feet. I hope to make several of these Class meetings. Perhaps we could even host one or two in the Hampton Roads area. Any interest from the left coast?

Now for those of you that thought the business of reunion planning had passed with the 20th Reunion, think again, we're hot on the case planning for 25 years. Once again Soup Campbell is coordinating the effort. He writes:

The following is an update on the 25th Reunion. The planning committee has met twice—once in Springfield and once at the Alumni House in Annapolis. Those present were Beth and Gary Holtz, Cindy and Joe Walsh, Joe Berner, John Swantz, Dennis Haines, Debbie and Carl Moore, Art Horn, Bill Millward, John Bird, Rich Sneed, Owen Thorpe, Corky Gardener and me. Several ideas were kicked around as to the weekend format, when the Reunion should take place, and how much it should cost. It was decided that the Reunion will be held on an off Homecoming Weekend. We picked the weekend of 21 September 2002. Navy is scheduled to play Northwestern. Contracts are in place with the Marriott Annapolis Harbor and the Wyndam Garden Hotels to provide rooms. Cindy Walsh is heading the Tailgate committee and has entered us into a contract with O'Leary's Catering. THESE ARE IN PLACE AND CAN NOT BE CHANGED.

There was a concern among the committee that the cost for the 20th was too great and that more people would have come if the costs were less. Some of the cost saving ideas that were discussed are: 1) Do away with a dinner dance on Friday, have only a large tailgate party on Saturday that would run from 10:00 a.m. until 9:00/10:00 p.m., and let each company hold their own dinner on Friday; 2) Make all memorabilia optional with the vendor responsible for mailing orders to each individual; and 3) Do away with bus transportation.

These are ideas that have been brought up and the committee is leaning towards. To help solidify our final decisions, I am soliciting feedback from the Class. Let any of the committee members know how you feel on the proposed reunion plans. We still have a couple of years before the final plan has to be carved in stone. I can be reached at: Campbell_Tom_L_TRW@hq.navsea.navy.mil or 703-293-6368.

While we are on the subject of Class business, don't forget we are in the midst of elections. As mentioned in last month's column, a slate of candidates has been nominated and we welcome comment or dissent. Any objection to this process can be made by either phoning Owen Thorp at work: 410-293-6312 or home: 410-626-8813, email at: thorp@arctic.nadn.navy.mil. I would also be glad to answer any questions regarding the process at the addresses noted at the start of the column.

Finally, another piece of Class business that is becoming too common a part of this column. It is my sad duty to report the death of another of our Classmates. Irby D. Fogleman (23) died on 16 June 1998. I received a note from his daughter, Kinyorda, which follows:

My father, Irby D. Fogleman III '77, died Friday, 19 June in Reston, VA from complications of Multiple Sclerosis. He is survived by his wife of 19 years, Melinda; two children; his mother, Mae Frances Fogleman of Memphis, TN; three brothers; and two sisters. A Mass of Christian Burial was held at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Herndon, VA on Tuesday, 23 June and he was buried with full military honors (also on the 23rd) at Quantico National Cemetery in Quantico, VA. Until next month... be well.

By the time this is in your hot little hands we'll be less than thirty days away from the swappin' sea stories at our twentieth. So in keeping with the fashion of the last few months' columns, I'll open with a few remarks and last minutes reminders. You should have gotten the following gouge in the mail (either as part of a previous Shipmate article or letter): Registration form, Class Election Ballot, Gouge letter from Mark Hubal, our reunion coordinator, a Golf Registration Form, Schedule of our events, and Souvenir Order Form. Now, the Registration Form goes to Kevin Liddy; the Ballot comes to me at the address shown in the header of this column (How many of you after all these years thought that it was John Rudder's address?), the Golf Registration goes to Arch Griffin and the Souvenir Order Form goes to our vendor (His address was on the form.) If you accidentally sent them to the wrong person, don't fret. We have a pact to forward them on to the right destination. But if you sent them to somebody or someplace completely different than what I mentioned—I'd think about canceling that check and getting on the horn to me, Mark Hubal, or Kevin Liddy. Either way, fill out a Form Two for failure to follow instructions. Now a few details that were missed on our notice on which I've gotten a few questions or comments:

1) Tickets to the Game are NOT part of our package. However, your Tailgater pass will get you entrance through the gate so you can get to the Tailgater in the end zone '53 Pavilion; 2) Shuttle Busses will be running to and from the hotel during the tailgater and game (we practice safe reunions) and 3) For the LAST TIME—the reunion is NOT on Homecoming weekend. It is the weekend of 2-4 October—the West Virginia game. You may still go to Homecoming, if you want, but you'll be missing the Reunion and most of the folks. Also, I got a few comments about the expense of the reunion. Believe me—there was a looong discussion/debate about what we should set as a target for the registration and events. Along the way we talked to a lot of other Classes and looked at what things they did and what they offered for their reunions. Talked to a lot of vendors, suppliers and caterers. We used the Pavilion to save on costs of tents and Porta-Johns (They ain't cheap!) And hey, come on, we have a 7 HOUR tailgater?! We purposely broke out events to let people be as selective as possible in choosing what events they wanted to participate in. We even broke out separate souvenir items so people could buy additional momentos and not burden the amortized cost against those who just wanted the basic giveaways. Throw in busses, hotel ballroom costs, caterers, DJs, and liability insurance, and standard giveaways too. When you think of the Navy, Marine Corps or other balls or black tie events you've attended—it's pretty reasonable too; and when you compare it to what other classes have done and offered, we are on the lower side of pricey-ness. In the end, I think the committees involved did a helluva job in keeping the costs down. This event only comes around once—you'll have a great time and you'll see that you'll get your money's worth. If you don't think so, give us some constructive advice for the 25th Reunion. More importantly, volunteer to be on a committee to help planning for it! Now on to the mailbag:

From Bob Novak:

We have been trying to locate next of kin, wives, parents, brothers, sisters, etc., of our Classmates who have paid the ultimate sacrifice and will be honored at our 20th reunion memorial service and Honor Chair Dedication. We have had very limited success through BUPERS, they sent a letter on our behalf to our below-listed Classmates' last known address. If anyone can put us in contact with the families of Dave Cawthra, Terry Dougherty, Ralph Fellows, Al Frisch, Steve Jacoby, Al Hammond, Mickey Lax, Jim McInerney, Kelly Miller, Ken Schaeffer, Mike Story, John Summers, Lee Sutherland, Chris Willson or Robbie Wilson, please call me (Bob) as soon as possible at (w) 703-614-0957 or (h) 703-893-6878 or email-novak.robert@hq.navy.mil. We want to be sure we have given these families the opportunity to attend these two significant events and if desired, attend the rest of the weekend.

Also, in various discussions with other classes who have held reunions, all of them recommended that to make the Memorial Service and Honor Chair Dedication very special, and suggested that all of us who are still in uniform, be it active duty or the Reserve, wear our uniforms. I'm not sure when USNA changes over from summer to winter, individuals need to check with USNA ("Sir, the uniform of the day is...") to be sure you are in the proper uniform—even Vinnie is getting into shape so he can fit into his best "Marine Green!" Looking forward to seeing all of you at the 20th. Thanks for the help.

Joe Schmitz, joseph_schmitz@pattonboggs.com, has again been fighting the good fight on behalf of our GI Bill Benefits. The Vietnam Era GI Bill has expired, and the "rollover" provision of the Montgomery GI Bill explicitly excludes all service academy and ROTC grads after 1976. Joe was hopeful, but by no means confident, that Congressmen Kennedy and Scarborough will co-sponsor a very simple amendment so that the Montgomery GI Bill exclusion applies only to graduates after 1978, which would reflect the intent of Congress in a 1990 law that retroactively restored GI Bill eligibility to 1977 and 1978 Academy graduates and 1978 ROTC graduates who had already gone to graduate school. He's met with the staff of Congressmen Kennedy and Scarborough. Though meetings have gone well, it isn't a done deal. He needs "supporting arms" to help. That means personal involvement of congressional staff on behalf of real constituents. In other words, write your Congressmen and women and enlist their aid on our behalf. Drop Joe a line for samples and issues. Thanks again for all the hard work, Joe. Good luck!

From the Lost and Found Department come the following: Here's the picture of Bob McMasters and his old roommate, Chip Jones. It was taken when Bob brought his son to Fork Union Military Academy for school. You may recall from a previous column that when they went to the equipment room to pick up Bobby's football equipment—there was the coach, Chip, issuing the gear. Talk about strange reunions! By the way, here's Bob corrected email address (seems I left out a letter): mcmaster@pp.msu.edu

Chip Jones and Bob Masters

Here's a note that said that Jim McClean, jim_mcclean-cta@lmdgw.chinalake.navy.mil, is now in China Lake. No details were given except that he will be going to the 20th Reunion. I found an old Press Release from the Law Firm of Marshall, Dennehey, Warner, Coleman & Coggin in Philadelphia. It was passed on by an old Firstie from Larry Warrenfeltz '75. It's old news, but the picture is cool. It's of one of our barristers, Christopher E. Dougherty, Esquire. Seems MDW&C² wanted to let everyone know what we've already told you—that Doc is a military judge. Yup, hang 'em high, Dougherty is now on the bench. Hey, he'd have kept Jack Nicholson in check... "You want the truth?! You can't even handle the truth!" Oh, did I mention that Doc is also a shareholder (that's partner) with MDW&C²? He works out of the firm's Norristown, PA office and specializes in handling product liability and general liability issues. So if you don't know that the McDonald's coffee is REALLY, REALLY HOT—call Chris.

Homecoming 1998 is 15-18 October.

Last chance to eat in King Hall as you remember it! King Hall will be closed for extensive renovations in July 1999.

"Judge" Dougherty

While on active duty over the summer, I literally ran into to Wayne Longcoy. Wayne was kind enough to keep that elevator door open for me as I dashed back to my temporary office with my lunch in hand. As he was juggling his own Snapple drink and meal, it was an effort above and beyond the call of duty. We didn't get a chance to talk at much at all. Between the couple of floors I gathered that he was only in the Navy Annex that day; was on his way back to Kansas City before eventually heading out to Okinawa—another LtCol going where the Corps sends him. I also had a nice lunch with Craig Diffie in his domain at DISA (Defense Information Systems Agency) in Arlington, VA. Actually he was a block away from where I was staying. As I mentioned in another column, Craig took over DISA's Information Systems Center (DISC). He's got about 40 military, 100 civilians and 150 contractors working for him and supporting the internal information network, maintenance, operation, and upgrade of the network and its applications. They also are responsible for all DISA telecommunications, VTC (video teleconferencing), software training and help desk functions. It's a multi-service activity. I mean, he relieved an Air Force LtCol and an Army LtGen presided over the change of command ceremony. Of course, the real brass was the '78 folks in attendance: John Rudder, Ray Kwong and Les Wallace (also with DISA).

Craig Diffie's Change of Command

Barb Ives represented the Glen Ives clan while Glen was still wrapping up U.S. Army War College in Carlisle, PA. After school, Glen was heading to the Command Staff at U.S. Southern Command in Miami, FL this summer. Les planned to retire this past June and was going to work in the information technology field around the DC area. Craig also was a willing draftee to have his name dropped into consideration as a write-in candidate for a Member-at-Large slot on the ballot.

It has been quite some time since Bruce Gearey, Bruce_P_Gearey@nor.fisc.navy.mil, corresponded with the Class, but he thought he would get caught up. He recently joined the retired ranks. After a few years as a SWO, he spent the rest of his career as Supply Corps. He currently lives in the Norfolk area (Chesapeake to be exact) and now works for Management Technology (MANTECH) doing logistics consulting. He and Sally also own a sporting goods store in Chesapeake. She does most of the work and he cooks the books...all that good Supply Corps training isn't going to waste! If any Classmates are looking to transition and start a small business, Bruce would be glad to provide some insight from his experiences. He says it is hard work, but very rewarding. The rest of the Gearey clan is comprised of Shawn (17) and Michelle (14). Shawn's a pretty fair baseball player in his own right (his high school team, Great Bridge, made it to the Virginia state semi finals this year.) He will be a senior next year. Michelle excels in softball and academics. Bruce and Sally are looking forward to seeing Classmates at the reunion. His real email address is gearey@erols.com. He'd especially love to hear from any 30th Co. Classmates.

Steve Holman, stevefst@erols.com, was scanning the boat school's web site and thought he'd drop me a quick line via "tron-line." Like most of you, he's not a big correspondent so he didn't try to catch me up on the complete history of his last 20 years. Instead he gave me the "Cliff Notes" version—here goes...He made a switch in the '80's from aviation to medical corps. He went to USUHS (the military med school) and did an Anesthesiology residency at Bethesda. After a seven year stint of single life, he married CDR Loretta Madden, a Navy nurse anesthetist. They now have a ten month old son, Connor, a daughter Kari (15), and a son, Sean (17). By the way, you guys better be sitting for this news—Sean was just inducted at USNA as a member of the Class of '02! Yikes! Loretta and Steve are both in the Anesthesiology Dept. at Bethesda Naval Hospital. They live about two miles away from work. Another Classmate, Sean Donovan, is also on staff at the hospital (Radiology). Sean and his wife, Jenny, also live in Bethesda along with their three kids. Margaret and Ken Roey, and their kids, Maxine and Joshua are close by in Gaithersburg, MD. Ken makes the Crystal City commute to NAVSEA. Loretta and Steve stay in close touch with Rae and John Costello (and their kids, Patrick and Kathleen). The Holmans and Costellos were former neighbors a while back in Virginia Beach. Steve's hoping they can be neighbors again soon if John gets back to DC after his upcoming Air Boss tour on NASSAU. For now, Steve and Loretta are looking forward to the reunion. They'd love to hear from any Classmates in town. You've got the email address.

Bruce Crair's, Bcrair@acssys.com, changed jobs again. He just joined the company, ACS Systems, Inc., in June. It's an exciting new start-up. They do software, data network and telephone network design, integration and installation (as well as maintenance), primarily for the real estate industry. Of course he claimed he just can't hold down a job! But when you look at his title, President and COO (Chief Operating Officer), I don't know about that! Ahhh, it's good to be the king!

Craig Cowen retired in style this July. His career came full circle as the ceremony was held where it all began—at Mother B—in Memorial Hall. Back in May, Dick Findlay gave up command of his All-Weather Squadron, VMFA (AW)-332 at MCAS Beaufort, SC. In June, John Sturges was relieved in a ceremony as CO of RENTZ.

As promised last month, here's the Reserve Captains selection list—just in time to have a wetting down! Apologies, if I missed anyone on the list. If I did, I'm sure I'll hear about it around the beer keg. Congrats to: Vince Belleza; Marty Bushika; Sean Coffey; Andy Cuca; Jay Deloach; Dave Guza; Don Hamblen; Chris Jensen; James Kantner; Marvin King; Ken Law; Greg Mankey; Larry McCabe; Mark Munson; Elmer Nelson; Brent Obenour; Rennie Pili; Paul Ross; Richard Shiefen; Mike Shinego; Mike Yurina; Terry Wood; Jim Butler; and Bart Buechner.

Among the other email messages: Dave Bowers, DAVID.BOWERS@kla-tencor.com, sent a quick note when he inquired via email about the Reunion. He's living in Fremont, CA, working for KLA-Tencor, (semi-conductor inspection equipment). He admits that his employment is pretty weird for a BULL major—but then he was pretty good at the Bull so he must have them hoodwinked. He and Elaine have been married for 18 years. They have two son, Colin (15) and Jake (10).

Back in June, Rick Dubberly, rfg0014@selsis.navy.mil, zapped me from halfway around the world. At the time, his ship was moored in Port Klang, Malaysia, which is the port for Kuala Lumpur. Like most of you COs he admits that command is fun, especially when you have a great crew as he does on SIDES. He was scheduled to return to homeport (San Diego) last month. Next on his agenda was the reunion; followed by a Change of Command—late Novemberish.

Katie and Jeff Fowler sent a "change of email address" notice. It seemed that MCI access was becoming non-existent so they switched to AOL. Their new address is Fowlernavy@aol.com. I'm sure John Gardiner would've preferred not to have lost a customer but a Classmate customer to boot! Looks like an opportunity there, John.

Mark Nault also sent a change of address. Like Glen Ives, he also wrapped up U.S. Army War College in Carlisle, PA. After a swing through home in JAX he was headed to start at Trident Training Facility (TTF), Kings Bay Submarine Base, Georgia in the middle of June. You can catch him via email at home at: chefhubbie@aol.com; or at work at: ttf-kin.t10@smtp.cnet.navy.mil

Vance Moore, vmoore@inetworld.net, was on "The Quest for the Gouge or Truth, Whichever is first..." or what we call the GOUGE on the reunion. I think he should have all the answers he needs. But as a last resort—here goes. READ THE FIRST PARAGRAPH OF THIS COLUMN. As for Vance's other question—No you cannot lie about your handicap. Forget that deception stuff of which Sun Tzu wrote. He also wrote the highly popular "You will have Good Fortune" and "You will be going on a long trip" found in today's fortune cookies. Besides, remember that lie, cheat or steal thing? Keep the straight and narrow—SWAG it. It's close enough for Government work. And the way we SWAG things, you'll seem like Tiger Woods—on paper that is! Anyway, it's a foursome with "best ball." Odds are at least one of the three other guys will carry you. See you at the reunion.

George Wadzita, Gwadzita@aol.com, made a first input. Actually, it was more of an "After Action" on an impromptu party they held in Pearl back in June to celebrate our 20 years since graduation from USNA—sort of a "workup" exercise. Attendees included: Bonny and Cecil Haney (Chaney718@aol.com) and their three children: Elizabeth, Thomas, and Joseph; Gretchen and Tom Crowley and their three: T.D., James, and Kelly; Patty and Ric Martinez and their three children: Tessie, Ricky, and Julie; Judy and Faris Farwell and their children: Andrew and Marissa (their other son Faris Thomas was at home); and Janeen and George Wadzita and their three children: Kerri, Brent, and Timothy. Kinda looks like kids come in threes in Hawaii doesn't it? Cecil is the CO of HONOLULU (SSN-718). Tom has the new HOPPER. After giving up command of GATO, Ric is now with the N5 shop at COMSUBPAC. Faris has REUBEN JAMES. In May, George gave up command of KEY WEST (SSN-722). When he wrote he was enroute to the staff of COMCRUDESGRU ONE, in San Diego. He promised a photo of the mini-reunion event for future publication, provided he doesn't lose them in the move. George reported that other '78 alums known to be in the Pearl area but unable to attend include: Katie and Jeff Fowler (COMSUBPAC TRE Team, and former CO of CHARLOTTE (SSN-766) and three children Brittany, Lynsee, and Connor; and Barbara and John Cohoon and sons Andrew and Marshall. John was enroute to the DC area. He was COMSUBRON 7 Deputy. Before that he had BUFFALO (SSN-715). Candee and Al Gonzales and children Alfred and Kiralyse. Al's with the N1 at COMSUBPAC. He's another former submarine skipper—of the recently decommissioned PINTADO (SSN-672). Theresa and Bob Guy (CO, GREENEVILLE (SSN-771)) and their kids, Rachel and Tony. Debbie and Eric Rosenlof and daughters Amy and Susie. Eric is with the Battle Group staff on JOHN C. STENNIS. Before that he was skipper of LEFTWICH (DD-984) which was decommissioned this March. And lastly, Tricia and Tom Rubenstein with their son, Tommy. Tom is currently CO of LOS ANGELES (SSN-688). This fall he has orders to Japan.—Whew! Thanks for the Roll Call, George. Looking forward to seeing the pics.

Well, that's enough. In closing just a few reunion questions: How many of you still have your First Class Car? Your Grease Cover?—Hell, your Grease Girl? What must be the velocity of a Camaro to clear a gutter and three foot chain barrier before it's transformed into "Aqua Car?" Who really was caught frying up Skippy the Squirrel for pre-formation hors d'oeuvres? Are five shoed Plebes in a room REALLY a mutiny? Who reached the top of Herndon? Does anyone remember anything more than a couple of verses of the "Laws of the Navy?" Who can still fit into Parade Dress? WUBA? Jump Works? Service Dress Zulu? And, has Bob Schermund worn the same old Navy gym gear at tailgaters these past 20 years?! The World Wonders... Remember, if next month you see me sauced and asleep in the gutter—just roll me over so the brass buttons don't show. Launchin' Spot Four. Here's a couple more IOU shots for your viewing pleasure.
